A USEFUL PAIN

Norway People Should Heed Its

Warning

Have you a sharp pain or a dull ache across the small of your back? Do you realize that it's often a timely sign of kidney weakness? Prompt treatment is a safeguard against more serious kidney troubles. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Profit by a Norway resident's experience.

Mrs. W. J. Olmstead, 95 Main St., says: "My kidneys began to give me trouble as they were weak. My back ached so badly I could hardly get through with my housework and everything I undertook to do seemed to drag. I was dizzy and could see star-like spots before my eyes. My feet and ankles swelled. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills being so good, and sent for some. When I had finished taking them, I felt as well as ever. The backache ceased and my kidneys became regulated. I have told a number of people about Doan's Kidney Pills and never fail to recommend them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Olmstead had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

There is a great tendency on the part of the American people to make a close study of conditions in other parts of the world. This in itself would be wise and praiseworthy, were it not for the fact that in so doing we consume much time that should be devoted to the scrutiny of affairs nearer home.

The haphazard manner in which many of our public affairs are conducted is evidence of this fact. If the public at large would make a sincere and determined effort to widen its scope of knowledge upon national, state and local requirements we would be able to send representatives in harmony with our desires, and not at random as is now too often the case.

In this way we would have a congress more representative of the true sentiments of the people, a congress more devoted to the welfare of all of the people as a whole and less so to certain interests that work while we sleep.

Long sight is a desirable possession, but only when it does not obscure the vision at closer range.

An auction will be held Saturday, April 29th at the residence of Andrew Wheeler, Harrison village at one o'clock, D. M. Stuart, auctioneer. A quantity of household goods will be sold.

HIS GET-AWAY

When but a lad, I had a scrap. One frosty autumn day. With Johnny Jones, a schoolmate. When we went out to play.

I got my right eye on him. That's what the boys all say. But I couldn't see much with that eye. When he took his hat away.

And then we went right at it. With hands and feet and teeth. Sometimes John Jones came out on top. Then I was underneath.

But I kept looking for an opening— I found it in a fence. I took advantage of it.

I And I haven't seen him since. For word oughta seen the coward run. When he found he couldn't match me. He ran 'till he was out of breath.

No good! He couldn't catch me. —O. R. M., Fryeburg.

A New ESSEX

It was to prove ability and enduring qualities far beyond what any light car had ever shown that Essex made the tests resulting in its famous world's records.

But performance and reliability are not its only appeal. Its beauty of line and luxury of appointment are the work of years of leadership in car design. See the care and completeness even in the smallest detail. Its riding comfort and smooth, quiet running ease are qualities you will compare with high-priced cars. Yet Essex also gives light car advantages such as unusual tire, fuel and oil economy.

Judge it, not by the light car standards you have known, but by the much more exacting requirements of the large, costly cars. That is what makes its price all the more wonderful.

The Oldest Paint in the Newest Form

Dutch Boy Liquid Lead

Liquid Lead is simply the old-fashioned lead-in-oil, ready for use, mixed by the manufacturer of the white-lead instead of by the user. It is white paint and does not come colored, but can be tinted to any desirable color. It has the quality of the best white-lead paint, the convenience of being able to start painting as soon as the can is opened and the satisfaction of using a Dutch Boy product.

Dutch Boy Flat White

When a flat or semi-gloss finish is desired, as for interior walls and woodwork, use Dutch Boy Flat White. This is also a pure white-lead paint, but is designed to give flat effects, delicate in color, rich in tone, yet durable and washable.

Dutch Boy Paint is Economical

because of its great spreading capacity, which makes its cost per square foot less than many paints which cost the same per gallon and also because of its great wearing qualities. As it contains only pure materials and weighs over twenty pounds per gallon, it can be thinned and tinted in any manner desired. Call and investigate or send for a descriptive booklet.

A bit of excitement was caused among the village citizens Wednesday afternoon and evening, April 13, when the bulkhead and a part of the dam across Webb river on east side, near the new braid mill was taken out by the heavy fall of rain, causing such a high water pressure. This dam has stood the test for over seventy years, with but little repairing. The bridge across Webb river joining the towns of Dixfield and Mexico, is situated a few rods below the dam, and grave fears were expressed regarding the danger of the bridge being taken out, should the remainder of the dam give way.

There were crowds of spectators during the evening near the banks of the river to witness the spectacular sight. Webb river is an outlet of Lake Umbagog and at its present height, the volume of water passing over the dam was a veritable miniature Niagara.

Farm Bureau Notes

The ladies' department of the Farm Bureau held an all day meeting April 13. Anita Nicholson, home demonstration agent, was present and that her superintendency was all was proved by the hats the ladies "turned out." The A's and B's prepared the dinner. About 27 were present. Twenty-eight dress forms have been made which shows "Betty" is holding her own. The total cost was approximately $42.12 and as each one is valued at $10, the Farm Bureau women saved a good deal besides having a most valuable "first aid to the sewing room." The remodeling meetings are bringing forth good results. Oxford County clubs have a splendid system of organization. The Farm Bureau has purchased a camera to take pictures for the stereopticon. More than thirty men really interested in finding out some facts about pruning were present at one of the best meetings the County Agent has held in Oxford County. It was an all day meeting. Under the leadership of Mrs. R. H. Lovejoy, Paris has the largest enrollment thus far of any community. The total now stands at 58, about one-third in the Senior club and the rest Juniors. The Paris project of A. F. Stearns Jr., has been obliged to resign.

Shrine Club

One of the snappiest affairs for the season was staged by the Twin Towns Shrines Club at Paris Grange hall Thursday evening. The Shrines and their ladies appeared in costumes, some garments were ancient many were from the middle ages and a few not unlike the modern fashion plate of the low price mail order house variety.

An old fashioned district school was assembled on the stage with Hugh Pendexter, the Norway author as school master, and the student body picked from the Shrines. Classes recited and many startling revelations not of common knowledge were brought to light. In the spelling match Stuart W. Goodwin and Mrs. Edward Downing both of Norway carried off the honors and were presented copies of Mr. Pendexter's writings "Gentlemen of the North." All were presented slates and pencils for souvenirs. Mrs. Harold C. Fletcher of this town won a box of sweets for the best ladies costume. Elmer Packard of Norway impersonated a "tough" and received one of the Pendexter books for a prize.

The radiophone concert with James Oswell as operator was not given as expected. For some reason connections with band and orchestra waves were imperfect and dancing by this long distance novelty was postponed for another gathering.

Refreshments including sandwiches and doughnuts were served in numbered dinner pails and partners were found by corresponding numbers. Coffee, punch and ice cream were served by Louise Powers, Doris Kerr, Agnes Porter and Nora Dunham.

Shaw's Orchestra of four pieces furnished music for the "village hop" which lasted until a late hour.

This successful affair was managed by Dr. D. M. Stewart, Irving O. Barrows and Harold C. Fletcher all of South Paris; Hugh Pendexter and Albert L. Clark of Norway.

Among the Easter guests at William L. Gray's were Marion Gray of Lewiston and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Patterson of Portland. Carolyn Gray has been home the past few weeks and has decided to remain during the summer.

George W. Cook and his daughter, Mrs. Luella C. Smiley, who reside at South-eastern, N. C., expect to return within a few weeks and occupy the upstairs room in their house on Western Avenue.

Mrs. W. L. Gray returned from Portland Saturday evening, after spending a week with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gray.

WEEKLY LETTERS

The part of a correspondent for a weekly paper is largely a labor of love. The one who writes the weekly letter from Oxford County, is really writing to a large number of people, some of them children of the home town, others interested because having once lived in the place, or having relatives or friends there. These are all eager to hear the news. It matters not if it is just that Mr. B. has painted his buildings, shingled his barn, cut off a lumber lot, or been on a visit to friends, these readers are interested. As they read they see in their mind the place, and visualize the improved appearance of the repaired buildings. They see again the figure of their old neighbor and friend, and in heart go back to the home town.

If every correspondent could realize this he would take double interest in sending in the little items, remembering that he is not writing wholly for neighbors and town residents, but that he is really giving pleasure to many persons in distant places, probably some whom he does not even know by name.

The old, built-in-the-wall ovens our ancestors used were crude and clumsy compared to those we have today. The modern types of stoves and ovens have made cooking and baking vastly easier.

Better and Easier Baking than our ancestors ever dreamed of

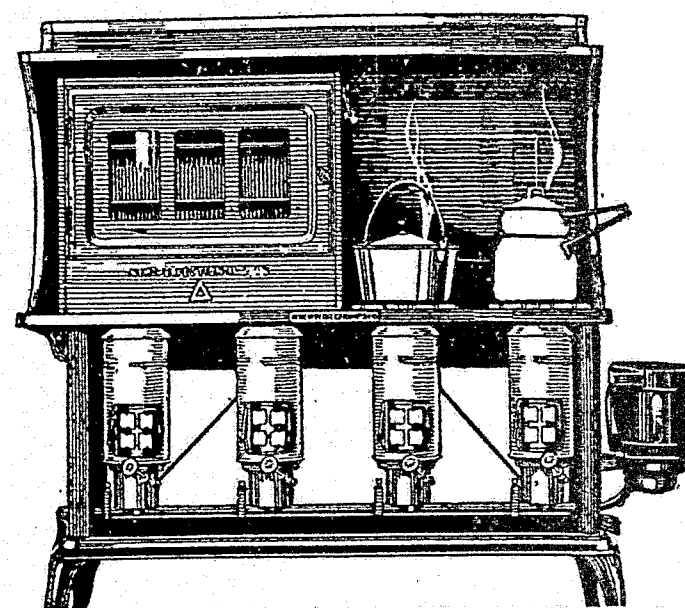

THE New Perfection Oven is scientifically designed. It has the most perfect system of oven ventilation yet devised.

First of all, it bakes evenly from all directions in the oven—top, bottom and all sides. Then, the doors are locked tightly at three points, thus preventing the loss of heat. The oven has glass windows through which the interior is visible at all times. These windows are not easily broken, except by accident, and can be readily and cheaply replaced with ordinary glass.

Cleanliness and economy, lightness, durability, perfect cooking with the least possible care and trouble—the New Perfection assures all of these. Which explains why this cook stove is more popular than any other five makes combined.

Progressive dealers everywhere handle the New Perfection, because it is the most satisfactory oil cook stove made.

PIGEON HILL

J. Kelsey Denning Killed by Train. The community was shocked Monday to learn of the accident which caused the death of J. Kelsey Denning, aged about 84 years, a well known, prosperous farmer who was born and lived on Pigeon Hill all of his life.

Mr. Denning was driving home from the town about 10 o'clock Monday morning when just before reaching the track at Grant's Crossing he noticed the approaching train. For some inexplicable reason his horse stopped in the center of the track. Onlookers stated that he did not attempt to jump from the team but before he had succeeded in starting the horse, the oncoming train, in spite of the efforts of the engineer to bring his engine to a stop struck the team, instantly killing Mr. Denning. The horse escaped injury as he broke away from the team, running some distance up the street before he was caught.

Mr. Denning was the son of Job Denning and was born on the farm on Pigeon Hill where he has always lived. He graduated from Hebron Academy in 1869, afterward teaching school winters and working on the farm summers, for two years he was principal of the Mechanic Falls High school and served on the school board in the towns of Poland and Mechanic Falls, always being interested in education. He was one of the prime movers in forming the town, and served on the board of selectmen four years. In carrying on the farm built by his father, Mr. Denning has been most successful, raising large herds of cattle and hundreds of hens.

In 1880 he was employed by the Government in taking the census of the town of Poland, also being a crop reporter for the Government for a number of years. Feb. 15, 1866 Mr. Denning married Eliza Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Smith, in Georgetown, Mass. Three of the four children born are now living, Charles K. Denning and Mrs. Mary Hall who reside on the home place and Mrs. Fannie March, wife of Charles S. March.

After many happy years spent together, Mrs. Denning passed away January 14, 1921. He also leaves three grandchildren Ray D. March of Seattle, Wash., Clarence E. March of Lewiston and William K. Hall of Bowdoin College besides several nephews and two great grandchildren, Margaret Denning and Ray Denning March Jr., and nieces. He was a past grand and past chancellor commander in the Odd Fellows and Knight of Pythias. He was a citizen any community might well be proud of and will be sadly missed by his many friends of whom he had many in the vicinity.

JOSEPH ANDREWS' MAINE VISIT

Dear Advertiser: Sunday, Aug. 7th, I spent my last night in Fryeburg, the home of Charlie Andrews and his wife, and the next morning I took the stage to Lovell village, where I transferred to the Center stage which left me at the John Meserve corner near the Congregational church, there I again transferred, this time to the Foot & Walker line, and with my heavy satchel for ballast and my umbrella for a cane, I received a cordial greeting from my old time schoolmates, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pottle, with whom I was to make my headquarters for the next four weeks and forage for a living amongst my old time friends and neighbors.

I was too late for the blueberries and red raspberry crop, but found an abundance of wild and tame blackberries. Pottle told me that on their hillside pasture they had an abundance of blueberries, but they were all gone when I arrived. When I was a boy living on the old farm in Lovell, wild strawberries, raspberries, blueberries and blackberries grew in abundance almost in our door yards, and without care or cultivation.

The five years that I lived in Audubon County, Iowa, we had an abundance of wild fruit. Wild crab apples, plums, grapes and choke cherries, and the settlers used to make up sauce by the barrel, using homemade sorghum for sweetening. The wild grapes were small, about the size of huckleberries, but they made fine jelly and grape juice. When I first settled in Dakota Territory fifty years ago, there was not a tree or shrub growing upon the prairies for hundreds of miles around. The fierce prairie fires that sweep the prairie each fall and winter burned up the prairie grass, and left no tree or stump to guide the traveler upon his way. Only in deep ravines and along the banks of rivers protected from the fire fiend's ravages could timber grow at all. From five to eight miles above where I lived upon my homestead there were several deep ravines or gulches and in several of these gulches grew perhaps 75 acres of magnificent native timber, mostly red and white elm, but oak, bass wood, ash and hackberry. These timber gulches had all been felled on for speculative purposes long before our arrival, and we settlers got no benefit from the timber. In these gulches grew large quantities of wild plums, grapes, black raspberries and gooseberries. In the fall the settlers would take a day off and go to the timber, have a picnic dinner and a good frolic, and return at night with their farm wagons well filled with the luscious fruit. Within a year or two of our first settlement, we began transplanting plum trees and small fruit from the gulches to our homestead farms and in about five years we had an abundance of plums, and small fruit growing in our own front yards. Plums and apple trees are not long lived in the West like they are in the east. I have set out at least four plum orchards on my farm. They thrive for six or eight years and then bear wonderful crops of fruit equal to the best tame fruit, for a few years, then begin to die out and a new orchard is needed. It is the same with the apple trees. An apple orchard of 20 years' growth is getting old and beginning to die out. Sun scald, blight and scale is the principal disease. Blight and scale can be fought by spray, but the only way to protect the tree from sun scald is to wrap the trunk and shade it from the fierce sun rays which beat down on the southwest side of the trees and kills the tender bark, that in time destroys the tree. About two miles from Hurley, my home town about 40 years ago, a Mr. Alderman started out to grow a commercial orchard. He set out 120 acres of his farm in apple trees. For ten or fifteen years they did fine, for several years that orchard was the wonder of the town. It grew a fine big crop of apples, one year more than 10,000 bushels, then the blight struck it and the trees began to die from the trunk and for the last ten years the man has been trying to dig out the dead trees, and get his land back into a field again.

If I was too late to pick blueberries in Lovell, I was too late to help finish up having. The next day, Tuesday, I picked tame blackberries in the forenoon and in the afternoon went with Mr. Pottle to the meadow for a load of meadow hay. He owns the old Heald meadow now, and George Eastman was cutting it on shares and John Kendall was helping him. All Mr. Pottle had to do was to haul his share home. I secured the boys' job of raking scatterings, and after the load was loaded I had the pleasure of riding on the load all the way home, or to the foot of the long hill, when we both slid off and went on foot in order to help lighten the one horse load. When the load was safely in the barn I had the pleasure of pitching the load off on the scaffold, while the deacon stored it away and tramped it down. When a boy that big meadow was my favorite fishing ground, after the hay was cut. One winter when the meadow was flooded with frozen over, and good skating. I and some of the kids spent an evening there. We built up a big bonfire and had a glorious time gliding over the smooth, glass-like ice. At that time about sixty years ago, Henry Heald was head farmer for his father, and Tom Adams, Edwin Heald, a cousin, and the three younger Heald boys, Selwin, Charles and Austin, was the harvest crew. Edward, the student, was in Portland attending a commercial college. He, if living, and his youngest brother, Rev. Josiah Heald, are the only ones living of the large Heald family.

Two years ago when in Oakland, Cal., I called upon my old schoolmate, Pres. E. P. Heald, at his home in Oakland and found him a helpless paralytic. For five years he had been helpless from palsy and all that time had been cared for by his wife and her two sisters.

We owned a small meadow adjoining the big Heald meadow where my stepfather and I and often a hired man labored many days in haying time each year. It was a swamp with no bottom in spots. We mowed, raked and bunched up the hay, then with poles 14 feet long run under each cock we poled the hay to the hay rack and stored it away in the barn. Wasp nests were plentiful and we had to work with care lest we run into a hornets' nest.

Further down the stream were several small meadows owned by other parties, one by Deacon Hamblen and another by Col. Elden Barker. I was at the store one day when Col. Barker drove up. He had a four wheeled wagon and a large hay rack and the largest load of hay on that I had ever seen. Two tons they said of meadow hay. It was a show load, well loaded and it made a fine show.

The Pottle, Heald, Little farm is one of the historic farms in Lovell. In 1822 the town of Lovell gave the land to the Rev. Valentine Little. He being the first settled minister in Lovell. He served the church faithfully for twelve years, then moved away, but left three bright, handsome, noble girls behind and they married three of Lovell's most highly honored sons, Major John Barker, Hon. Andrews, Andrew Barker and Col. Elden Barker. He also had one son, Henry. When I was a small boy Henry Little owned a small shingle mill on Alder Brook I think it was, at the foot of the Barker Hill. I was at the mill once. The dam was some twenty rods up the stream, and the water was brought to the mill in a board flume, where it was discharged into the buckets of a large overshot wheel. The gate at the dam was operated by a long connecting wooden rod running from the mill to the dam, and a pulley or pull opened or shut the gate. I was told that on one occasion Henry was at work below in the big wheel when someone entered, not knowing he was below, and while examining the make up of the mill, pushed the long lever and started the water, but before the water reached the mill he was warned of his danger, and a tragedy averted. I remember of seeing Henry Little once, as I was going by the mill with my cousin, Isaac Andrews. Even called out to talk with Isaac, and I remember him as a very smart looking handsome young man. I think he went south soon after, and never came back.

The pastor's study in the famous old parsonage home is just as he left it 90 years ago. The same paper on the walls, and the same pictures hanging from the walls. It is in the chamber and has both front and rear stairways. From the top of the hill one gets a magnificent view of the country for many miles around. The state road from the village runs around the hill, but almost every day, people climb the hill to get the grand view obtained. Below the upper and lower Bay connected by the narrows with a half circle of mountain peaks eight or ten miles away, while still more distant the summit of old Mt. Washington smiles down upon the smaller peaks, when not covered with its night cap of fog and mist, while away over in Stow and Chatham, the spires of the Methodist and Congregational churches tower far above the tree tops, announcing that the Giver of all good, is not forgotten by the common people who live far away from the city's pomp and splendor, a contented, happy, prosperous people.

On Wednesday, August 10 I visited at Fred Stearns' across the lake in West Lovell. Mr. and Mrs. Stearns have an interesting family of seven children, five boys and two girls. The oldest girl Sarah, is a school teacher, Georgie the next oldest, is married and I did not see her. George, the oldest boy, was a tourist guide and sportman and with his boat earns good money and enjoys much pleasure by taking out tourist parties to the shore grounds. Mr. Stearns with the other boys make a good haying crew and were busy finishing up haying down on the meadow. Mr. Stearns has a fine drove of sheep, and his wife a fine flock of hens, and both helped to supply the hotels and tourist camps with choice mutton, eggs and poultry. The farm is, I think, the largest and most productive farm in Lovell. When Fred's uncle, Caleb Stearns, owned the farm about 1860 he raised the largest crop of corn ever raised in Lovell, over 40 acres, and around 2,000 bushels of corn. The house had been newly painted, and the many fields enclosed with stone walls, lined with long rows of apple trees, and the many grape vines trailing along the walls gave the place a neat and prosperous appearance, which spoke well for the enterprise and care of the owner.

Thursday morning I took to the road again, on the back track and had a delightful visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Summer Kimball and their son-in-law, Charles Stanford and wife, to whom I took dinner. As I expected to call again at the Kimball-Stanford home I will make my visit short this time and to my headquarters, the Pottle house.

From the Hurley Herald, my home paper, I quote the following which will be of interest to some of your West Fryeburg and South Bridgton readers. "San Diego papers report the death of Mrs. Viola Powers Fessenden at that city Jan. 14th. The deceased was the mother of Mrs. Louie Fessenden Heilman of San Diego, Miss Fannie B. Fessenden of Berea, Ky., and Edw. F. Fessenden of Lucern, S. D., and known to Hurley people as a pioneer resident of Spring Valley." Mrs. Fessenden died from cancer of the stomach. She was the last of seven children all born in Sweden, Me., she was born March 28th, 1843. About 1860 the family moved to South Bridgton where four of the children died. About 1866 their step-mother Caroline Andrews Powers and their father died and the three children Elizabeth, Viola and Andrews, moved to River Falls, Wis., and later they all moved to Spring Valley, S. D. where Mrs. Powers died and where Andrews' died about two years ago. About ten years ago Mrs. Fessenden and her daughter Louie, and her sister Lizzie with her husband Edwin, Fitch moved to San Diego with their daughter Maud. Mrs. Fitch died a few years ago and he and his daughter Maud have been living on a 17 acre ranch at Lakeside about 15 miles out of San Diego. His ranch was nearly ruined by a flood about five years ago and now another flood not bad like the first one, has caused him lots of trouble.

The Pennsylvania is a happy hunting ground for those who long to go bear hunting, seems to have been generally overlooked in enumerating the many reasons for the fame of the State, but that hunting is a great sport in this state as shown by the report of Seth E. Gordon, Sect. of the Penn. game commission made to the American Game Protectors' Association. "Forty thousand persons hunted bears in Pennsylvania last year, and they killed 510 bears. During the past four years nearly 1800 bears were killed in the state, some of them of great size. One was so large, if we may believe Mr. Gordon, that four men could not lift it nor could a mule drag it out of the forest in Potter county, where it was killed. It weighed nearly 600 lbs. Not only are the black bears of Penn. large enough to satisfy the ambition of any boy eager to hunt bears, but their conduct is so exceptional that there is no reason whatever for anybody to go West in search of bears. It will be much safer to stay at home, for Mr. Gordon says he has not found a single instance where a Pennsylvania bear attacked a person, and only an occasional bear is ill mannered enough to eat live stock. The Pennsylvania bear lives on berries, nuts and honey, for the most part. But because so many bears were slain last year, the farmers are again asking for laws to protect them, the law having been modified last year because bears had increased to such an extent under the laws for their protection which first went into effect in 1905, when the state was almost depopulated of bears."

Cotton tail rabbits also must be plentiful in Pennsylvania, judging by the number exposed for sale in the markets of Pittsburgh last fall. Most every grocery store and market was loaded down with them. They came packed in barrels and boxes, and sold, I think, at about 65 cents a pair.

A letter from Mrs. Henry Andrews says, in part, "Charlie has been here all winter. With the help of two men they have gotten up lots of wood. Henry kept his oxen so he thought he would make them earn their keep. I have about sixty hens and they have been laying fine all winter, eggs are 40 cents now, were 80."

C. B. Andrews writes from San Diego, Cal., "With all the reports of hard times east it's so strange it is not felt at all here. There are more buildings going up now than ever before. Chiefly bungalows and apartment houses, over three a day on an average all last year. Rents are much higher than a year ago and most anything will rent if furnished. The heavy rain caused quite a disaster out at Mr. Fitch's place. The water rose suddenly and they had to move to higher ground. It did not get up to the floor of the house, and did no serious damage besides washing some deep cuts in the land and killing a few half grown chickens. Maud seems pretty well and was no worse for the scare and exposure. Mr. Fitch is well and has a new Ford, a self starter this time.

My renter on the farm writes encouragingly about prices of grain and hogs, corn 37 and oats 27 cents a bushel, a rise of about ten cents a bushel on oats and thirteen cents on corn in a month. We have had some cold snaps this winter, but spring is just around the corner and will soon be here.

Yours truly,

Joseph Andrews.

NEED OF EDUCATION IN FINANCE

A story came to the ears of a Government Director of Savings a short time ago which emphasizes certain results obtained from the popular drives made during the late war. Many people who had never made an investment in their lives purchased Liberty Bonds or War Savings Stamps. They knew nothing whatever of value, simply that one hundred pennies equalled a dollar, and kept no track of supply and demand, fluctuation, inflation, or deflation.

As well dressed, thoroughly competent looking woman went into a bank in one of our good New England cities and getting a pair of scissors very carefully cut all the coupons from the bonds which she brought with her for the purpose. After carefully cutting the coupons and putting them in a neat pile she heaved a sigh of satisfaction and said under her breath, "There, that is a job I have been dreading for a long time. I am glad that I have finished." Then taking the face of the bond from which the coupons had been cut, she wadded it up in her hands and threw it in a nearby waste paper basket. The coupons she took to the teller's window and asked for the payment of their face value. She was considerably surprised when the teller very carefully explained to her that those payments would not be due until the dates imprinted on each coupon. Upon inquiry as to what had become of the face of the bond, she admitted to having thrown it in the waste paper basket as valueless.

This is part of the education in finance which many people need and which the late war brought to the surface. Most people know the value of stamps, since they are familiar with anything that pertains to postage. Therefore, the mistake in throwing away a War Savings Stamp especially if it is attached to a certificate; and the great advantage about this Stamp is that it increases in value automatically each month and always brings back to the owner more money than he paid for it.

AGREEABLENESS
If you are looking for a job it may interest you to hear what is the one quality which employers the world over want most. It is agreeableness.

Agreeableness is the diamond among virtues, for it is the most precious and the rarest of all.

It is worth money; for it sells more real estate, cigars, groceries, dry goods, automobiles, typewriters, furniture, and life insurance than any amount of smooth talk and convincing arguments.

Smile! Not once in a while, so that you look like it hurt you when you force a grin. But get the habit. Smile to yourself when you're shaving. Then it will come natural when you use it trying to see a washing machine.

Be agreeable! And you'll be in demand. For in every walk of life they are crying for the agreeable person.

Every wife wants that kind of a husband; husbands that kind of a wife; children want agreeable parents, the workman an agreeable boss, the boss an agreeable workman; and everybody wants agreeable relatives.

We want agreeable hired girls, hotel clerks, motormen, policemen, janitors, ice men, ushers, preachers, governors and bankers.

Come, be agreeable, for you will have little competition, and are pretty sure to succeed.

An agreeable person lights up the room like a lamp. He is like the shade of a big tree on a hot day. He is like a drink of something that tinkles in the pitcher when you're real thirsty.

He is like love when you're lonesome, bed when you're tired, a breeze when you're stifling, food when you're empty and money when you're broke.

Be agreeable! Study to make people like you. Make love to the world.

Life's a mix-up, anyway, that none of us can understand. There are all sorts of inseparable thorns and tragedies, buffets and chagrins. And most people are a bit sorry for themselves. Hence, ugly.

But you—you are agreeable. Try it, and see what happens.

TO REMOVE LETTERING FROM MEAL BAGS
During "Meals' Week," last spring, at the University of Maine, much interest was taken in a display of serviceable house garments made from meal sacks from which the stencilled letters had been removed. Since then many letters have been received by the home economics extension workers asking how to remove the letters from the bags. These inquiries have come from all over the United States. The method of removal is very simple and inexpensive. Here it is: Rip seams and shake out meal. Wet all the letters and figures with kerosene. Roll the bag in a newspaper and allow it to remain at least twenty-four hours. Make a strong soapuds with water as warm as the hand can bear. Rub the letters between the hands, rubbing the soap directly onto the lettering. Continue rubbing until all the stencilling is removed. Rinse and wash thoroughly; then rinse again. Boil with borax chips or soap. Any good laundry soap may be used.

POLITENESS
Discourtesy begets discourtesy. What politeness there is in public places is mostly artificial at the best. Few persons feel sweet-natured in the hurly-burly of the crowded city. But one gets through the day without affront or unkindness and is decently served if he has that in his manner which says he is not looking for trouble.—N. Y. Tribune.

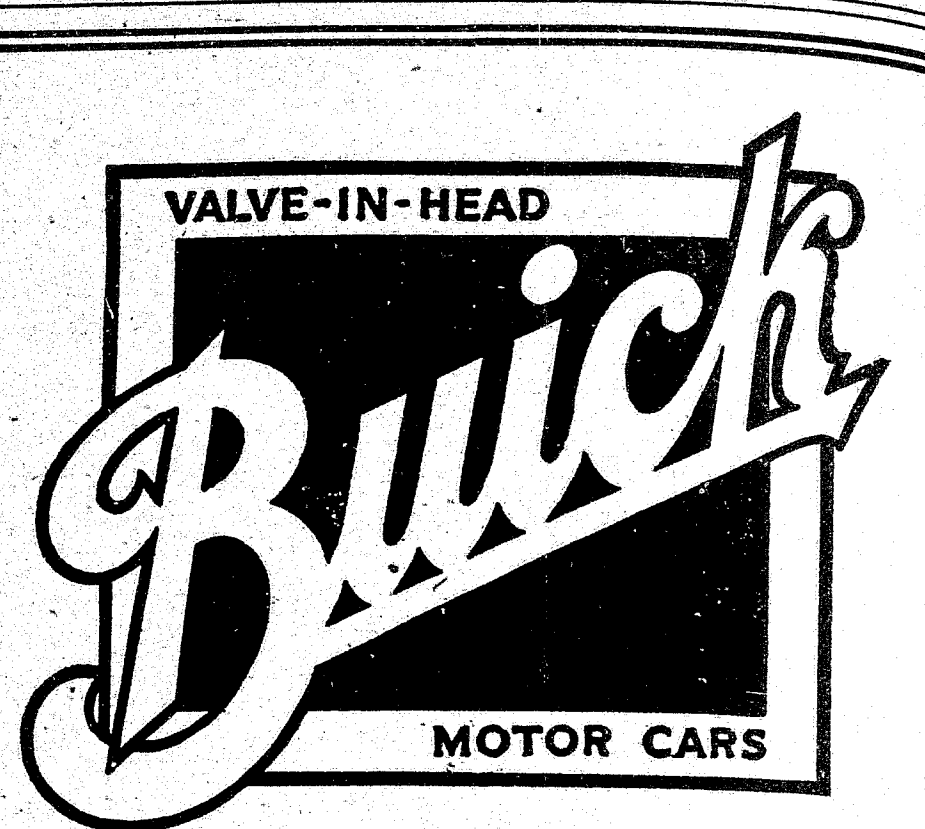

The distinction made here attracts attention. For when one stops to think of it, there is all the difference imaginable between perfumery politeness and what may be termed being sweet-natured.

One of the prices we pay for modern civilization is the hurry-hamk. It drives us remorselessly through our day's duties. It keeps us on edge. It leaves no time for old-fashioned courtesy. We just "get-by" decently. That is all.

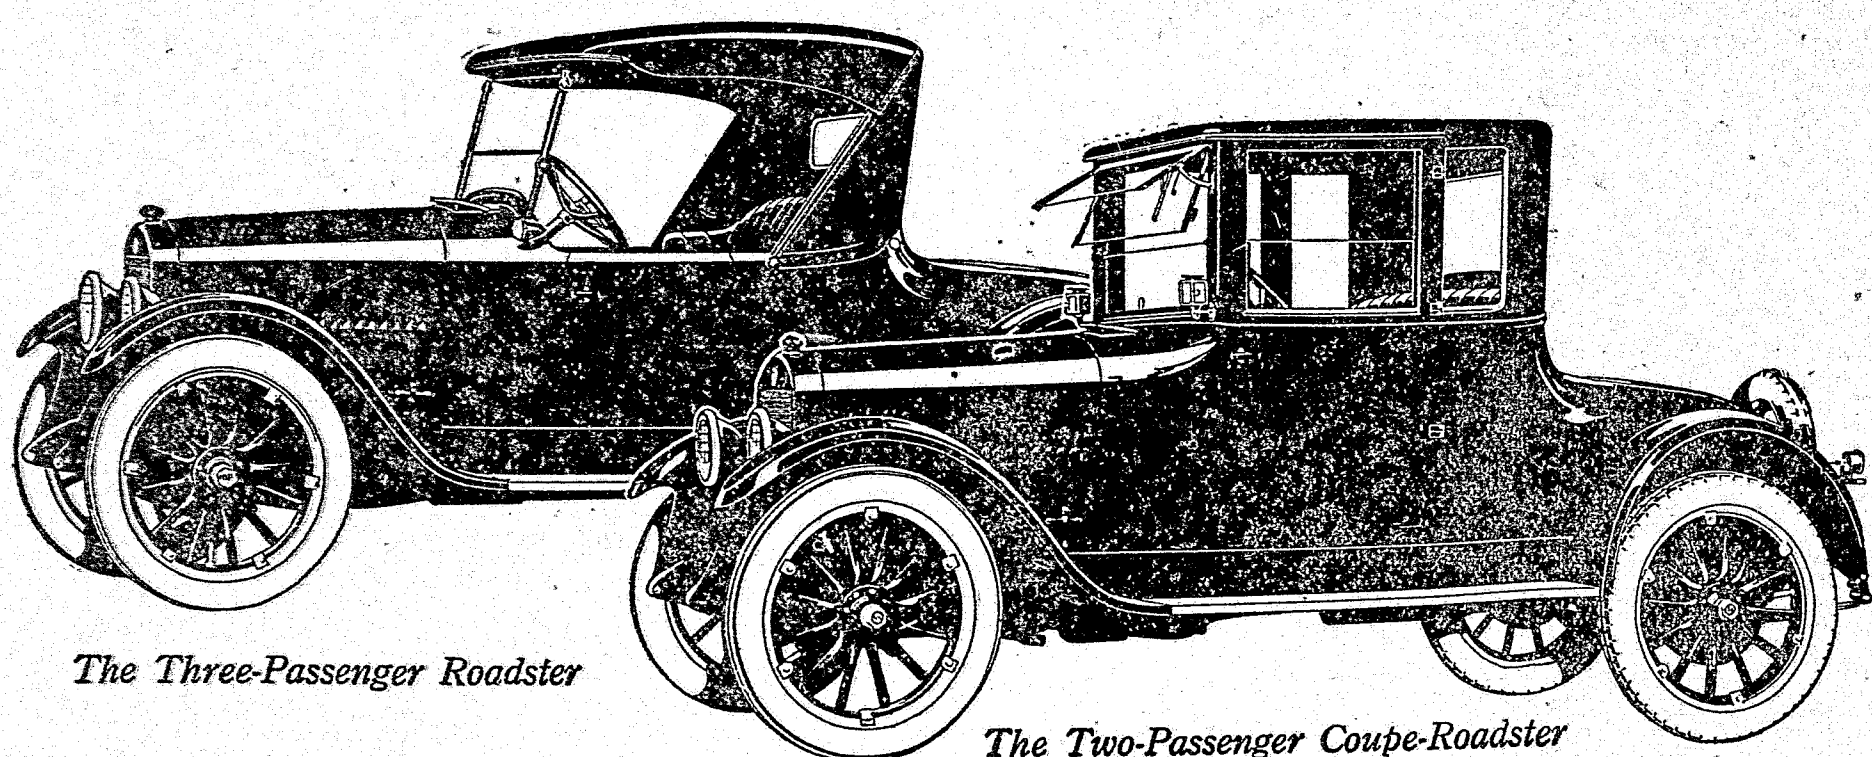

Typical of the change from our grandfather's day is the type of letter written now. It is brief, to the point, and abrupt in opening and closing. It is far removed from the courtesies of old-time correspondence which despite the drawbacks of scarce paper, costly postage and quill pens, found time for the fluent phrase and no small circumlocution.

We do not want to go back to the extravagances of yesterday. But we might well preserve some of the sweet-natured alacrity of the days of that "Good Book" calls "Loving-kindness," which is a little more than a sample of just kindness.

After a woman has passed a certain age she would just as soon be married on Friday as any other day.

OXFORD COUNTY COUNCIL FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN BOY SCOUTS

All funds are raised by voluntary subscription. All funds are used to promote Boy Scout Work in Oxford County and all bills contracted by the Oxford County Council are paid by H. C. Rowe, Bethel, Maine, treasurer.

All funds raised are received from two sources: Individual subscriptions and by Advisory Board quotas. The individual subscriptions go direct to H. C. Rowe, County Treasurer, Bethel. These are subscriptions to the amount of fifty dollars and upwards. Subscriptions of any size come under this heading if the subscriber wishes to donate funds direct to the General County Work. Advisory Board Quotas are the money quotas received from the different Advisory Boards in Oxford County. These quotas are apportioned according to the Natural Budget. Wealth of the different vicinities under the jurisdiction of the various Advisory Boards, and all A. B. funds are held by the Treasurer of the Advisory Board.

All Funds over and above the Quota are held by the Treasurer of the Advisory Board in each vicinity. These extra funds in each vicinity will be used at the discretion of the Advisory Board for the advancement of Boy Scout Work locally, and as a contingent fund. People who are not approached personally in regard to giving to this work can send their subscriptions to the various Advisory Board Treasurers unless they should prefer to send straight to the County Treasurer, H. C. Rowe, Bethel, Maine.

Five months ago there was but two troops (semiactive) in the county. Scouting was at a standstill and practically dead. Today, there are 14 troops alive and of five boys over 300 strong. There are five times the number of men backing this work than there has been in the past. The whole county is under a uniform plan or organization that is getting unanimous backing everywhere. The near future gives bright prospects of Oxford County having the Leading Boy Scout Council in Maine.

Double Golden Wedding

The double golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Noe Daniels and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vohue who were married 50 years ago at a double wedding took place Saturday.

Mary and Agnes Butler are the oldest daughters in a family of nine children of Francis and Pauline Butler. They were born in Saint Victor de Tring, Canada, where they continued to live until 1869, at which time the Butler family moved to Lewiston. Here Peter Vohue, a young man from his native town, became interested in Mary, and Noe Daniels of Saint Maurice, Canada, who likewise had come to the states and was living in Lewiston, won the heart and hand of Miss Agnes Butler. This double wedding culminated in a double wedding on April 8, 1872, in St. Peter's church, the ceremonies being performed by Rev. Fr. Avegy.

Mr. and Mrs. Vohue were attended by Mrs. Mary LeDue of Lewiston and Charles Vohue, a brother of Peter, now living in Farmington; Mrs. Mary and Mrs. Daniels were attended by Miss Mary Gilbert and Napoleon Richards, who were, themselves married five weeks later and now live in Auburn. These four friends were present for the festivities and re-enacted their parts at the 9 o'clock mass, Monday, the 17th, in the church at Oxford, where Rev. Fr. Redden, pastor of the parish remarried these two couples that have enjoyed 50 years of happiness together.

In 1886, Mr. and Mrs. Daniels with six children came to Oxford, and one year later, Mr. and Mrs. Vohue followed them. Both Mr. Daniels and Mr. Vohue were employed by the Robinson Manufacturing company, Mr. Daniels as teamster and Mr. Vohue in the dye works.

Mrs. Daniels has enjoyed good health; and, besides bringing up her own family, all of whom are married, she has cared for the three children left by her daughter, Lucy, who died fourteen years ago.

The eldest son, Noe, Jr., died eight years ago. Of the seven living children, Mrs. Mary Irving, Edmund Daniels and Mrs. Rosalie Langman live in Oxford. Glorian is a baker in Auburn and Mrs. Josephine Noland lives in Auburn; Mrs. Jennie Crowley and George Daniels live in Lewiston.

Mrs. Vohue has not enjoyed the best of health in recent years and the eldest daughter, Mrs. Ellsworth Davis, has assumed many of the household duties. The second daughter, Mrs. John Donahue lives in Lynn, Mass. Peter, Jr., has held responsible positions with manufacturing companies and is now located in Charlotte, N. C., where he is superintendent of a large factory. Edward the youngest son, unmarried lives at home.

There was a large family gathering over the week end.

These two families take an active interest in the new Catholic church to be built here this summer; and on account of the Lenten season, the observance of this double wedding anniversary was not held until the Easter week-end.

Clover Lane Farm

The Robinson farm at Oxford is now to carry on Holstein breeding under the name of the Clover Lane Stock Farm. H. S. Boyle is manager of the farm.

The "Clover Lane" herd of purebred Holsteins is located just outside of Oxford village on a farm which has been in the Robinson family for over fifty years. The herd was founded in 1913 by Joseph Robinson, what at that time purchased a half dozen good cows in a consignment sale at Syracuse, N. Y. The herd now numbers 46 head, 21 of which are cows of milking age. Among the great cows now on the farm are Mabel and Konington Segis Beets, who at 6 years of age made a record of 34 lbs. butter in seven days and milked 608 lbs. milk in that time. Also S. V. H. Snowball Lookhart at 2 years with first calf. Butter in seven days, 27 3-4 lbs., milk, 508 lbs. K. K. S. V. Lola Veevan at 2 1-2 yrs. with first calf. Butter in 8 1/2 days 83 1/2 lbs., milk 19,489 lbs., and many other large producers.

If You Want Good Health

Breathe Right—Eat Right—Exercise—and you will seldom need medicine. Fresh air day and night helps to keep your system in condition to resist colds and sickness.

LF Eat plain, wholesome, well-cooked food, vegetables and fruit, avoiding rich desserts, pastry and sweets. Exercise in the open air not less than forty minutes daily, and your digestion will give you little trouble.

But if you do eat too heartily of the wrong food, or get too little exercise, you may safely use "L.F." Atwood's Medicine in small doses, when your food disagrees with you or when you get bilious or constipated. Used for more than sixty years by thousands of people right here in Maine. Keep a bottle handy for emergencies—50 cents, 1 cent a dose, at your dealer's.

When Accidents Happen

You pour a few drops of peroxide on the wound. "That peroxide," you say, "is full of life." You are sure of that, because it bubbles and foams when it comes in contact with the wound.

Reunion of Crooker Sisters

A happy occasion occurred April 10th, when five sisters, familiarly known as the "Crooker sisters," held a reunion in Norway at the home of the two older sisters. They were Miss Mercy Crooker and Mrs. Abbie Linnell, who live at the old home at the Falls; Mrs. Mary Pike Frasier of Gardnerville, Nevada; Miss Sarah Crooker of Portsmouth, N. H., and Mrs. Alice E. Neal of Auburn, five sisters left from a family of ten children. They are the daughters of the late Job B. and Mary Monk Crooker.

Mr. Crooker owned a mill under the hill near the Falls, and here the lumber was saved which went into many buildings in Norway village. The J. L. Horne house, the old Dr. Danforth house among them. At the time the Horne house was being built, the workmen were in need of laths and Mrs. Crooker, who was one of the handy women, saved the required amount, enough to lath a room, in quick time. This was not her only experience in assisting her husband when he was otherwise engaged. Many other events of their girlhood days were recalled and the day passed all too quickly. Several calls were made on their neighbors and friends, and it is needless to say that they carried cheer with them to several shut-ins.

Miss Mercy has always kept the home since the passing of her parents. For twelve years she lived at the Henry Burgess Farm, on Elm Hill, called there by the illness and death of her sister, Mrs. Burgess, remaining there as long as Mr. Burgess lived, returning home nearly two years ago.

Mrs. Linnell formerly lived in Otisfield and Oxford. After the death of Mr. Linnell she lived two years with Mrs. Neal in Auburn, later returning to Norway to reside at the old home with her older sister. While in Otisfield, Mr. and Mrs. Linnell adopted a five year old boy, William Barrett, whom they took to their hearts and educated. He is a veteran of the World War, enlisting with the Hospital Corps from Norway. He was in the service four years and went overseas with his outfit. He is now married, lives in Portland and is employed at the Hogan Bros. Clothing Store.

Mrs. Frasier will be better known by her former name, Mrs. Mary Pike, who, until her second marriage, a few years ago, resided in Norway. She came East in January and spent a month with her daughter, Mrs. Izah Pike Mitchell, in Montreal, then came to Portland to visit her son, Irving Pike and family, and then to Auburn where another son, Frank, resides and her sister, Mrs. Neal. In Norway, she has a daughter also, Mrs. Walter Purington and several grandchildren. She will remain in Maine until fall before returning to Nevada.

Miss Sarah is at present housekeeping at Wentworth Hotel in Portsmouth, N. H. She has had a wide experience in this capacity and is known as a capable and efficient manager. At one time she was Matron at Hebron Academy, Poland Spring; was housekeeper at the Somerset House at Rockland, and for a long time "mothered" forty boys at Wesleyan College, Middletown, Conn.

Mrs. Neal, who resides in Auburn, is well known to a wide circle of Norway people by her former connection with the R. S. Paul store, Abbott Brothers, and the B. Beck store, as she was employed in the altering department. Trouble with her eyes compelled her to give this work up. She is actively interested in the work of the Universalist Church, and is president of the Ladies' Circle, where she is recognized as an efficient officer. She has two sons and a daughter: Harold A. Neal of South Paris, connected with the Mason Square Hotel, Portland, and Miss Beatrice a teacher at New Britain, Conn.

These sisters belong to a remarkable family, and this day together, the first in many months, will be long remembered as a red letter day. The house has many old fashioned articles in it, in furnishings and souvenirs. Among these latter is a package of notes, bills and records of accounts, bearing the dates from 1837 to '52. The most of these were business transactions of David P. Hannaford, an uncle, well known in his day of the Hannaford clock fame. At one time he was postmaster at Woodstock and a quarterly account of the business of the office from April 1 to June 30, 1844, is an interesting and quaint document, the accounts being carried out in half and three-quarter cents. One could spend a day in perusing this interesting collection. The names of Lewis Monk, John Tuttle, John Lovitt are just a few of the old time names found on these documents.

Miss Sarah Crooker is enjoying a month's vacation at this time and as she and Mrs. Frasier were both with Mrs. Neal in Auburn, they decided to surprise their sisters in Norway and spend the day with them and have a jolly time, and their plans were not miscarried.

Bird Day

Bird Day was generally observed in the Norway schools. At the Lower Primary School, Miss Nellie Greenwood, teacher, the room was decorated with various kinds of birds colored, cut and put together by the pupils. On each desk was a paper plant reminder of the joys of spring. Before the school was placed a colossal bird chart illustrating many kinds of birds. The following program was carried out:

Verses from the Song of Solomon..... School
Song, Spring Puzzle..... School
Folk Dance..... School
Bird Questions answered by the first grade..... School
Song, Whippoorwill..... School
The program closed by pupils marching to the playground and hanging bits of worsted on trees for birds to use in nest building.
